LIHEAP, the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program, is a federally funded program that provides financial assistance to help eligible, low-income households meet their home heating needs. LIHEAP vendors are defined as any business that supplies energy, such as rental facilities where utilities are included in the rent or provides home heating fuel to individuals applying for the LIHEAP program. Examples of home heating fuel include oil, kerosene, propane, bottled gas, wood, electric or natural gas.

Vendor paperwork will provide information about changes in the LIHEAP program this year and the LIHEAP staff members are happy to address any questions. Vendors who participated in the 2021-2022 program should receive a packet in the mail to update records for this year's participation.

The Subsidy Component of LIHEAP begins Nov. 7 and ends Dec. 16, 2022 or until funds are expended. The Crisis Component will begin January 9, 2023 and will end March 31, 2023 or until funds are expended.
