COOL VETS TAG PETS

make sure your clients know that vaccinations AREN'T ENOUGH

Together, rabies vaccinations and licensing are a winning combination. If a pet, especially an indoor pet, decides to go outside exploring and gets lost, tags are the fastest, surest way to help us return them to their owners without having to place them in the shelter.

So, do your clients, and their pets, a favor. Encourage not only vaccinating and licensing, but also making sure each pet wears both tags. It may take some getting used to, but for the thousands of pets who are lost each year, it can make a big difference.
